WE'VE GOT IT COVERED

Our team of court reporters make sure that decisions heard yesterday are online today, so you always get the latest judgments.

We also publish hundreds of unreported decisions the day after judgment is given and typically days ahead of any other source, so you'll never miss an important case.

To save you time, each case report links directly to the full text of all available judgments, often weeks before the official transcript is available. We also provide a full text document delivery service so you can order judgments dating back to 1980.

Everything is presented in a simple, clear and user-friendly way – so you can find the information you need quickly.
